

Dominic Oduro ready for FCN

The 21-year-old Ghanaian defender joins the FC Nordsjælland's squad.

FC Nordsjælland has had Dominic Oduro, from Ghana, on trial since the run-up to the spring season and have now chosen to sign the strong defender, who immediately joins the Superliga squad.

Dominic Oduro who just turned 21, signed for Manchester City in 2013 at the age of 18, from the Right to Dream Academy in Ghana. While he did not play for Manchester City's first team, he gained valuable playing experience while on loan to teams in the Belgian, French and Norwegian leagues.

Danish football is not unknown to Dominic Oduro. He was loaned out to AGF in the autumn of 2013, where he made a good impression in the 10 matches that he played in.

FC Nordsjælland's Head of Football Carsten V. Jensen said:

- We already took notice of Dominic Oduro's qualities, when he was 18 years old and playing for AGF. We saw his ability and we have now had the opportunity to observe him closely for a longer period, which has confirmed this positive impression, together with the references we got from AGF about him.
- Dominic Oduro clearly has qualities that we can use and develop further in our environment. He will primarily compete for the right back position, but he can also play further forward, says Carsten V. Jensen about the young Ghanaian who is free of his contract with Manchester City and can therefore immediately play for FCN.

For Dominic Oduro, it is a dream come true to play for FCN:

- I look forward to my debut for the club and to playing games with the FCN logo on my chest. I have played in Denmark before and I know the playing style. FC Nordsjælland's way of playing suits me really well. My favorite position is right back, and I like to attack, so I can also play further forward on the right side. I am really happy about my new contract with FCN which is a great club for developing young players.
- I look forward to showing what I can do, and I'm ready to learn a lot, improve myself as a player under a good coach, says Dominic Oduro, who will wear number 34 for FCN.

Facts about Dominic Oduro:

Nationality: Ghana

Born: 01/23/1995